

Wanted: Bio and Neurofeedback Provider at rapidly expanding Brain Training Center in New England.

Seeking a grounded, growth-oriented individual with a passion for providing bio and neurofeedback in a beautiful wellness environment in Seacoast Maine/NH. Are you skilled at neuromodulation and meditation? Deeply engaged with wellness and lifestyle as well as executive coaching? Do you seek to share your talents in an environment where you will be valued and able to grow your own practice?

Brain Training of New England is growing. Currently seeing clients for Neurofeedback 6 days a week with a full schedule. The right professional person will enjoy working in a renovated 200-year old barn on 2 developed acres with walking trails, gardens and old tree growth with benches for contemplation.

The right professional fit will be BCIA -certified and able to get appropriate licensure for the state of Maine. You are ready to support an active practice, bring some new ideas and a supportive mindset to serve a 60+-mile radius plus of clients with complex and varied neurological challenges that range from 5-90 years. On campus there is a break room with new bathroom being constructed. Your office is on the second floor overlooking old trees. It is a suitable space for bio/neuro and other adjunctive therapies.

Ideally you will work in support of current caseload 3 afternoons per week and be able to build out your practice while on salary with profit sharing. If this sounds like an opportunity that fits your next level of professional growth, let's talk.

Send letter of query with qualifications and interest to:

Pamela Blodgett, M.Ed., BCN, Clinical director of Brain Training of New England to BraintrainingofnewEngland@gmail.com

Pamela Blodgett, M.Ed., BCN

Clinical Director for Brain Training of New England

603-231-2630